

Paray-le-Monial, Burgundy

The Atelier Roland Jeol wanted an harmonious lighting on the right bankside of the Bourbince river. He, then, specified a contemporary structure composed of a handrail and a stainless steel fishnet supported by steel poles every 1.50 m-long inter-distance.

Meeting with the French standards set for disabled people, the 5640-School-light LED linear projector integrated into the 5682-School handrail lights up the pedestrian pathway from the footbridge to the bridge.
